FRANKENREADS

An international celebration of the 200th anniversary of Mary Shelly's "Frankenstein" for Halloween 2018.

Event: Frankenfest

Date: October 28

Time: 6-9 PM

Place: GFJ Library's Scott
Room (downstairs)

Come to the library after hours to discuss Mary Shelley's "Frankenstein". We will be watching a popular movie adaptation and discuss the book and movie. No fee, but registration is required. Attendees will get a free copy of "Frankenstein" upon registration. Registration is required, space is limited. Contact or visit gfjlibrary.org to register. For teens and adults.

Coming in November:

Watercolor Basics with Richard Henry.

November 2—30, 10AM—12, in the Scott Room (downstairs). Learn from the ground up how to paint with watercolor using proven methods.

Learn the basic wash techniques and unlock the mystery of making colors. Discover the power of the color wheel. Use the classic method of making all your colors from primary colors. Weekly exercises will help you gain the knowledge to paint and enjoy this exciting medium. This is a free class, but there is a $5.00 fee for supplies. This class is aimed at true beginners and is open to the public. Please register online at gfjlibrary.org, or call the Adult Information Desk (607 757-5350) to register.

For ages 18 and older. Registration begins
October 1, 2018.
